

Get it while it's hot: 9 new restaurants in NYC

Sachi Asian Bistro

Andy Yang of the Michelin-starred Rhong-Tiam cooks up reimagined versions of familiar Asian dishes, both street food and classics. Dim sum and sushi are joined by eel tacos and triple pork fried black rice (pork belly, Chinese sausage, bacon). Stay for the desserts by Pichet Ong (Jean Georges) and a cocktail menu that continues the same-but-different philosophy with drinks like Gun Powder Bramble with tea-infused bourbon. 713 Second Ave.